The above-mentioned indicator shows the risk and return characteristics of the sub-fund and represents the fluctuations in the value of the sub-fund in the past.

The risk indicator was determined on the basis of historical data and does not constitute an indication of the current or future performance of the sub-fund.

The assignment to a risk category is not guaranteed and may change over time.

The lowest category must not be equated with a risk-free investment.

The sub-fund may generate losses and offers no capital guarantee.

Reasons for the fund's classification in this category

Owing to its opportunistic investment policy, the sub-fund is subject to moderate-to-sharp price fluctuations. The sub-fund takes average risks and therefore has a correspondingly higher income potential.

The following risks may be significant, even if they do not have a direct influence on this rating.

Credit risk: The sub-fund is allowed to invest in bonds. Their issuers may become insolvent.

Liquidity risk: Some of the sub-fund's investments may reach a lower level of liquidity, which can influence the sub-fund's liquidity.

Counterparty risk: If a contracting party becomes insolvent, it may not settle outstanding claims of the sub-fund, or only partially.

Operational and custody risks: The sub-fund may be exposed to material losses as a result of human failure, system breakdowns, deficient processes or external events. Custody of assets may involve a risk of loss, which can result from insolvency or breaches of the custodian's duty to use proper care.

Risks resulting from use of derivative instruments: The sub-fund is allowed to use derivative instruments. The increased opportunities thereby attained involve increased risks of losses.
